MESSAGE FROM MAYOR KIRK CALDWELL

I am pleased to send my warmest aloha to everyone attending the Good Samaritan Foundation and Hawaii Cedar Church fundraiser for the Waianae Valley Homeless Self-Support Farm and Nursing Home.

Honolulu's effort to house troubled families and individuals is important. Many churches are taking an active role by offering a variety of programs and projects to assist the homeless. The founding of the Hawaii Cedar Church shelter at Colburn Street underscores the church's dedication to the problem, and this fundraiser reflects its commitment to the Waianae Valley project.

Mahalo to Senior Pastor Duk Whan Kim and the foundation for presenting this fundraiser. The proposed facility adds to the options available for our unsheltered population.

On behalf of the people of the City and County of Honolulu, I extend appreciation to Hawaii Cedar Church and the Good Samaritan Foundation for helping our residents who are in need.
